

MATTHEW LAMB

Elliot on ABC's "High Potential"

Originally from Iowa City, Iowa, Matthew Lamb is a multitalented performer. He stars in the upcoming feature films "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever" and "Going For Two." Previous film and TV credits include "Smile" and "Manodrome," and a guest star role in "Only Murders in the Building."

Onstage, Lamb recently played the role of Frank Jr. in the Off-Broadway production of "Merrily We Roll Along" at the New York Theatre Workshop.

His performance as The Little Boy in Signature Theatre's production of "Ragtime" earned him a 2024 Helen Hayes Award nomination for outstanding performer in a supporting role. Lamb previously starred as Young Ray in the play "Tommy and Me" at Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pennsylvania. He also had the honor of performing with several Broadway stars in The Transport Group's benefit concert performance of the musical "Nine" at the Kaufman Music Center at Lincoln Center.

Lamb has also worked as a voiceover artist for commercials and on several animated series – including work with Disney, Netflix and Nickelodeon.
