About Simpson Street

Simpson Street was launched in 2016 by Kerry Washington and Pilar Savone to produce stories that connect audiences to emotional truths and inspire meaningful change. Recent projects include the second season of the Onyx/Hulu/ABC Signature series UnPrisoned, starring Washington, which premiered on July 17, and the second season of legal drama series Reasonable Doubt, which premiered on August 22. Simpson Street also executive produced the Sundance Audience and Festival Favorite Award-winning documentary DAUGHTERS, which focuses on young girls separated from their fathers by incarceration. The film is currently streaming on Netflix.

In 2020, Simpson Street collaborated with Reese Witherspoon’s Hello Sunshine on the limited drama series Little Fires Everywhere for Hulu. Washington received Emmy, SAG, and NAACP Image Award nominations for her role in the series, which also earned multiple NAACP Image Award and Emmy nominations, including Outstanding Limited Series. The company’s debut film, HBO’s CONFIRMATION, starred Washington as Anita Hill and received Emmy, NAACP and Critics’ Choice nominations and won the WGA Award for Long Form – Original. In September 2018,

Simpson Street produced the critically acclaimed Broadway production of American Son, which also starred Washington, as well as the Netflix adaptation, which was released in 2019, earning an Emmy nomination for Outstanding Television Movie. Simpson Street also produced the ABC special, Live in Front of a Studio Audience, which featured re-imaginings of the classic sitcoms All in the Family and Good Times and again in 2021 with Diff'rent Strokes and its spinoff The Facts of Life. The 2019 special received four Emmy nominations and took home the trophy for Outstanding Variety Special (Live).
